WC Docket No. 05-281

Comments Due: December 13, 2005

On September 30, 2005, ACS of Anchorage, Inc. (ACS) filed a petition pursuant to section 10 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended (the "Act"),¹ requesting that the Commission forbear from applying the unbundling obligations of section 251(c)(3) of the Act as they apply to ACS's Anchorage, Alaska local exchange carrier (LEC) study area,² and the application of the related section 252(d)(1) pricing standards for unbundled network elements (UNEs), to the extent ACS chooses to continue to offer unbundled access to its network in Anchorage.³ Alternatively, if the Commission cannot find that section 251(c)(3) is fully implemented in the Anchorage market, ACS requests that the Commission grant forbearance with respect to General Communication, Inc. UNEs.⁶ ACS contends that forbearance from sections 251(c)(3) and 252(d)(1) of the Act is thus warranted in the ACS Anchorage study area for local exchange and exchange access services because all of the statutory requirements for forbearance pursuant to section 10 of the Act have been met, and mandatory unbundling is no longer necessary.⁷ ACS further provides that competitive market forces in Anchorage will ensure that ACS's retail rates and practices remain just, reasonable and nondiscriminatory and that consumers will be protected.⁸
